PROFILE

I'm Von, a Full-Stack Developer with a strong foundation in WordPress (Elementor) and modern JavaScript frameworks like React and Next.js. I've helped small businesses build fast, mobile-friendly websites, and I enjoy crafting both custom plugins and intuitive front-ends.

My background in engineering taught me how to troubleshoot and solve problems fast, and I've worked in both agency setups and solo freelance roles. I'm especially comfortable working remotely and managing full website builds from layout to deployment.

I'm currently looking for a team or client who values clean code, proactive communication, and someone who genuinely cares about the final product. Let's build something great together.
